

Home for the Holidays

Heading “home” to see your parents who live away? Have you had concerns about how they are managing?

Oftentimes, when we live away from our parents, the day-to-day challenges they may be facing go unnoticed. Subtle changes may not be apparent in phone calls, emails or communication at a distance. Holiday visits provide a perfect opportunity not only to celebrate but also to observe changes. Wondering what may signal the need for support? Join Somerby Mt. Pleasant for this informative presentation by Certified Senior Advisor Renee Allison Riley and Real Estate Specialist Nikki Cifelli.
